TEXAS OFFICIALS TO MEET KLAN WITH A MACHINE GUN

Sheriff Notifies Ku Klux Klan Parade of Masked Men Will Not Be Permitted

GRAND JURIES TO ACT

"Unseen Eyes of Invisible Empire" Being Vigorously Attacked by Courts

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 4.—"Unseen eyes of the Invisible Empire' faced a challenge from Texas—the first real opposition in the state—today.

Closely following the riot in Lorena wherein several men, including Sheriff Bob Buchanan, were wounded, and the arraignment of masked activities by Judge Hamilton in charging the Austin grand jury to investigate a second time, Chief of Police Mussey and Sheriff Tobin of San Antonio met rumors of a Ku Klux Klan parade with the ultimatum that it cannot be held.

"I'll use a machine gun if necessary to stop a parade in which marchers wear masks," Tobin declared.

Simultaneously, a second grand jury investigation of the Klan in this county was ordered by Judge S. G. Taylor of the forty-fifth district court.

INFORMATION FILED IN THE "FATTY" ARBUCKLE CASE

Sets at Rest a Report That No Action Would Be Taken by State

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Rumors that the State would let drop the charges of manslaughter against Roscoe Arbuckle were set at rest today with the announcement from the district attorney's office that the information against Arbuckle had been completed and filed in the superior court.

Arbuckle's case, accordingly, will be called probably some time today or tomorrow in Superior Judge Louderbach's court, and he will be asked to plead to charges that he was responsible for the death of Virginia Rappe following a "party" in his hotel rooms here.

Arbuckle will not appear in court at the opening, he being in Los Angeles.

Assistant Attorney General McCormick, who has been probing the prohibition angles of the case to determine where Arbuckle secured his liquor, said today that he is ready to proceed against three men but would not file information until Thursday.

Still another phase of the case drew attention today when it was learned that Al Semnacher, Miss Rappe's former manager, had asked for a transcript of the evidence at the preliminary hearing.

During the hearing, Attorney Frank Dominguez, for Arbuckle, had made a sensational charge that Semnacher was trying to blackmail Arbuckle and Semnacher answered with a threat to sue Dominguez for defamation of character. It was believed the demand for a transcript was in connection with Semnacher's threat to sue Dominguez.

Los Angeles Student Either Fell or Jumped From Ferryboat Encinal

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 4.—The body of Fulmer Hines, missing University of California student, was found floating in the bay at the foot of Franklin street today.

The body was identified at the morgue by a signet ring bearings his initials found on the body.

Hines disappeared from the ferry boat "Encinal" while returning from San Francisco a week ago today with a party of other students from whom he became separated on the boat, and a constant search has been kept up since his disappearance was reported, two days later. Hines came from a wealthy Los Angeles family.

Can't You Remember the Greatest Censor That You Ever Knew?

Can't you remember the greatest censor in the world, the one who used a shingle, and into her censorship injected an overpowering love? It is about this censor that James W. Foley writes tonight in "The Listening Post." You will find it on the editorial page and it will carry you back to the years when you were young and, if you shed a tear, or just sit back and dream for a few moments of those cherished days, the reading of "The Listening Post" will be worth a lot to you.

There is power in the pen of the poet, Foley, to move the emotions, power to make you think, and it is with pride that the Glendale Daily Press presents his human articles each evening.

In addition to Mr. Foley's splendid "Listening Post," you will find Dr. Frank Crane discussing the honor of the French. Dr. Crane wields a masterful pen. He approaches subjects in a distinctive manner, and it is a privilege for this paper to, each evening, present something from his pen to the people of the community.

Henry James in his comments touches again on matters connected with the Arbuckle case. There is no hesitancy in the manner in which Mr. James approaches his subject. He deals in a straightforward manner with facts as he finds them, and whether you agree with him or not, you must at least admit that he gives you something to think about.

J. W. BLAKE NAMED CITY CLERK TODAY BY CITY COUNCIL

New Official Is Declared Well Qualified to Care for Duties of Office

The Glendale city council in session this morning appointed J. W. Blake, 544 West Alexander street, as city clerk to fill the position vacated by J. C. Sherer, who resigned last night to become city treasurer.

Mr. Blake has lived here for some time and is originally from Iowa. In Des Moines, Mr. Blake was assistant manager of the Western Union Telegraph office and later was deputy county treasurer for Warren county, Iowa. In the latter place he handled all the county funds and proved himself a man of business ability and integrity.

Several years ago Mr. Blake left Iowa and came to California, settling in San Diego, where he worked as an expert accountant. He reorganized several business houses there.

Proving that Mr. Blake is a real Glendale booster, he is a member of the Glendale chamber of commerce and is one of the active members of that organization.

The appointment of Mr. Blake became effective today and he is at present filling the position of city clerk, picking up the lines of the office routine and becoming acquainted with city affairs.

J. C. Sherer, who formerly filled the position of city clerk, assumed his duties as city treasurer this morning and is attending to the affairs of that office, in addition to assisting his successor in the office of city clerk.

THIRTY-FIVE NEW CHAMBER RECRUITS

Thirty new members were added to the Glendale chamber of commerce today. The applications were received at the weekly meeting of the board of directors at noon. The new members enrolled carries the membership to 950, bringing the goal of 1,000 within easy reach.

Assistant Secretary Sanders is issuing a call today to all the new members for action. He wants to bring the membership of the chamber up to 1,000 by next Tuesday noon, and wants new members to do their part.

"We are trying to beat Pasadena to the 1000-member mark," said Mr. Sanders this morning. "Pasadena has a population of 75,000 and has 980 in its chamber of commerce. Glendale has 25,000 population and has 950 members in the C. of C. Of this showing Glendale certainly has reason to feel proud. We are determined, however, to beat Pasadena to the 1000 mark and we can do it if these new members, and the old ones, too, will put their shoulders to the wheel with me. Let's go!"

The new members include:

Barney, V. G., E. E. Kerbey, Glendale Lumber Co., Trice Furniture Co., Seidenglanz, Emil T., Glendale Investment Co., Sunset Mercantile Service, Cohen, Sam, Bowling & Gilbert, Glendale Dry Goods Co., C. L. Hill, Dr. O. A. Diederich, Los Angeles Desk Co., Kelley & Van Arsdol, Guy Wilson, Geo. B. Karr, John B. Moule, L. C. Yeoman, Nanno Woods, Charles H. Smithson, Glendale Window Shade Co., W. E. Jernegan, Dr. Virgil L. Pool, Dr. Clara E. Herven, F. H. Yeo, Albert E. Hill, Clem Moore & Riley Lyons, R. M. Woolitz, Buffalo Dye Works, Jordan & Marston.

GIANTS HAVE BEST PITCHING STAFF BY A SMALL MARGIN

Baseball Fans of United States Rush to New York to See World Series Games

TO START TOMORROW

Players of Both Teams Have Even Chance on Ground Conditions Says Head

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Pitching always decided the world's series, says John J. McGraw. Everyone figures that Arthur Nehf is the best pitcher in the ranks of McGraw and that Carl Mays is the best thing in the way of a puzzle that the Yanks will have to offer.

The Yanks, while they do not love a left-hander, have faced pitching as good as Nehf can put over, but the Giants have never faced an underhand pitcher with the cunning and skill of Carl Mays.

Mays might be the hurler to put over the decisive game in a tight series.

The Giants ought to know Waite Hoyt, the boy wonder, because it was for the National league champions that he left the high school lot in Brooklyn. When the Giants know a pitcher they generally have a means of beating him without using their bats.

Phil Douglas, the squirrel hunter, may be McGraw's choice for the second, or perhaps the first game. Fred Toney also has been a consistent worker, but Jess Barnes is too erratic to be figured upon seriously, while Ryan and Shea are too young to be of great help in the series and old Slim Sallee is past the day of starting a game.

Huggins is almost as bad off for pitchers. He has Shawkey, a sore arm, and Harry Harper, a wild, erratic southpaw, who always seems doomed when they start "waiting them out."

Jack Quinn is about through and Huggins would never think of starting Collins or Piercey in a series game. The Giants seem to have the edge on pitching because they have more finished veteran performers.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 4—The Giants and Yankees will get an even break on playing conditions, Henry Fabian, Lord high keeper of the diamond, said today.

"Huggins likes a soft, slow infield, while McGraw likes it hard and fast. Weather conditions have conspired to make the grounds about 'neutral.' It will be a 50-50 proposition for both teams."

POLICE MATRON IS NAMED BY MARTIN

Chief of Police Martin yesterday appointed the first police matron in Glendale. The new matron is Mrs. Agnes E. Richardson, 611 East Broadway. Speaking of the appointment of a matron Chief of Police Martin said that while Mrs. Richardson had been appointed, she would not be on duty at all times but only on call. Mrs. Richardson's home adjoins the city hall and it is only a matter of a minute to summon her.

Chief Martin said that Glendale has needed a police matron for a long time. Heretofore whenever a woman was arrested there was no place for her to be held until her hearing and if a search of her person was necessary there were only police officers to make the search. Only a few weeks ago there were three young women held at the police station for a matter of six or eight hours. There was no place to keep these women except in the office and they were forced to sit in the office all day. The appointment of a police matron is one of many changes Chief Martin has in mind.

According to the invitation there will be a real banquet, no army chow and K. P. duty, and after the banquet there will be several surprises in the way of entertainment.

MARY MILES MINTER WAS "DOCKED" BY FILM COMPANY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Whether Mary Miles Minter, film star, can collect $4125 which she claims the American Film Co. "docked" from her salary because she washed her hair and had the toothache, was the heavy question which the Federal circuit court of appeals had before it today. A jury in Los Angeles ordered the film company to pay Mary that amount and the company appealed. Here are some of the things Mary alleged:

That she was docked $187.50 when she washed her hair one morning and it wouldn't photograph that day the same as it did the day before.

That she was docked still more when she had the toothache and her face swelled up.

And that still more of her salary was withheld when she laughed right into the lens of a camera when the director told her to cry.

The company in reply, explained that it had hired all the available hairdressers to comb Mary's hair but without results; that it isn't proper for a film star to laugh when ordered to cry; and that Mary was altogether too temperamental.

City Attorney Bert Woodward was instructed to draft an amendment to the present ordinance governing the meeting hour and to change the hour from 8 to 7 o'clock.

"I am coming to Glendale because I feel that there is plenty of room for the Massachusetts Mutual Life in this valley. The people of Glendale have been very kind to me and many have requested that I open an office here. It is principally on the strength of their solicitation that I am locating here permanently in a business way," she said.

Mrs. Biggs is a charter member of the Glendale chamber of commerce and was one of the active workers in the recent drive.

Just as the truck crossed the tracks it was struck in the rear by the car and pushed into another truck driven by H. Douglas and owned by B. L. Smith of San Fernando.

CADILLAC AUTO IS BROUGHT IN CASE OF MRS. SOUHARD

District Attorney Now Believes That Evidence In Case Is Clinching

RECITES AN INSTANCE

Mrs. Southard Is Alleged to Have Misstated the Fact Regarding Land Sale

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Oct. 4.—That Mrs. Lyda Southard, on trial on a charge of poinsoning her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer, committed the crime in order to obtain his $10,000 insurance for the purpose of making the payment of a Cadillac roadster she had ordered, is the theory District Attorney Frank Stephan is working on today in presenting his evidence in court.

H. Granville Haight, manager of the Blue Lakes ranch, where Meyer was foreman, and who indorsed Mrs. Southard's note on the automobile, testified that Mrs. Southard said to him:

"I can make the payment all right by September 1st (1920) as I expect to have 8,000 to $10,000 by that time from land I own in Montana."

Haight made the note payable on September 15. Meyer died on September 7. The State held that as a matter of fact, Mrs. Southard possessed no land whatsoever in Montana, and was really counting on the $10,000 from the policy which she had persuaded Meyer to take out on August 16, 1920, the day after their marriage.

The prosecution went into detail regarding Meyer's fatal illness with which he was stricken the day after Mrs. Southard arrived at the ranch.

B. B. Squire, roommate of Meyer at the Blue Lakes ranch previous to Meyer's marriage, testified that Meyer was in agony most of the time, that he was sick at his stomach, could not eat, had cramps and was frequently taken with severe pains that almost brought on convulsions.

Squire's testimony confirms that of Mrs. Carrie Howe, of Muscatine, Ia., who yesterday repeated what Mrs. Southard had told her concerning her husband's illness. The testimony also confirmed that of Granville Haight, manager of the ranch, who was recalled and questioned briefly on the same point.

Haight testified that Mrs. Southard was very unwilling to have Meyer taken to the hospital and that he, Haight, finally made the arrangements to have Meyer moved to the hospital on his own initiative and took him to the hospital, in company with Mrs. Southard, in his own automobile.

Squire testified that Mrs. Southard told him at one time:

"The doctor says that Ed can't live, but we are going to do what we can for him in the meantime."

Haight testified that Mrs. Southard told him, while they were in the room where Meyer was lying sick and within his hearing:

"The doctor says Ed is in a bad way. If he doesn't get better soon, I don't think he will ever recover."

Mrs. Howe testified that after the first time Mrs. Southard put the flypaper out in saucers on the table on her arrival, she never replenished it again during he six days' stay at the ranch.

Mrs. Howe testified that Mrs. Southard frequently sat with her in the kitchen. The day before Meyer was taken sick, Mrs. Howe testified that Mrs. Southard said to her: "I don't really love Ed—at least, not the way a wife ought to."

Mrs. Howe remarked that she ought at least "do the right thing by him."

"Well, I intend to," she testified Mrs. Southard said.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL ADDED TO TAX RATE

At the special meeting of the city council late yesterday afternoon, the matter of collecting the fee for hauling garbage was discussed. Under the present system the fee for hauling garbage is $1 per quarter and the entire fee must be paid even though the resident receives service for only one week. This fee is paid to the city clerk, and aside from being inconvenient for citizens to go to the city hall, it has created considerable extra work for clerks, who are forced to stop their regular work and issue tags for garbage collection.

A tentative plan for a change was suggested and discussed, which looks toward an addition to the regular tax rate sufficient to cover the expense of collecting garbage.

This plan was favorably received by the council, and it is possible that it will be adopted at an early meeting.

Speaking of the present system, William H. Reeves, city manager, said:

"I am opposed to the present system of collecting the fee for hauling away garbage and it is my belief and I think that this is the sentiment of all the councilmen, that this present system should be abolished and that the charge for the service should be added to the tax rate."

Meets Friday—The Foster Bridge Club, after having postponed several sessions, will meet Friday of the present week with Mrs. S. E. Morse on East Harvard street.

EXORBITANT RENT CAUSE OF SHORTAGE

"I think that it is a mistake to refuse to rent houses to people with children," said Sam Stoddard, real estate agent with offices at 219 East Broadway in commenting on the rent situation in Glendale and the landlord who refuses to admit tenants who have children.

"Of course as other agents have said, there are children and there are children. Some parents are more to blame for the damage done a house by children than are the children themselves. The parents should train a child to respect the property of others and that it is wrong to destroy property or the furniture of another person's house even if the parents are paying an exhorbitant rent.

"There is a shortage of houses and those who offer them for rent ask such an exhorbitant rent as to put them out of reach of the man in average circumstances. I have on an average of six inquiries every day for houses either furnished or unfurnished and have listed with me to rent an average of two or three houses every month.

"Apparently the only solution to the rent situation is for the prospective tenant to purchase a lot and erect a small temporary dwelling until such time as he can afford to build a more permanent residence."

STUDENT BODY HOLDS SESSION ON MONDAY

The first student body assembly of the school year was held yesterday at the high school, the main object of the meeting being to boost the student body tickets, which are now on sale at $1.50. The use of the tickets were explained to the new students and a captain was elected for every roll room, who is to sell tickets to the students in his room. There is a contest to determine which room can first get its full membership. A bulletin will be posted in the corridor showing the rating of the different rooms from day to doy.

These student body tickets will admit the holder to interscholastic games on the home field, assemblies, and all school activities. It is the duty of every high school student to buy one of these tickets and help school spirit along.

CADMAN APPEARS HERE NEXT FRIDAY

The success and fame of Charles Wakefield Cadman as a composer of songs and song cycles has steadily grown since Madame Nordica made a sensation with one of his Indian songs in February, 1909. There is now scarcely a singer in America or Europe who is unacquainted with his name.

In addition to this, he occupies a distinctive place in American music by virtue of his propaganda for Indian folk-song. This has been accomplished the past four years through unique recitals and talks upon this subject for which he is an unquestioned authority.

Scarcely a music club in America has not, during these years, engaged Mr. Cadman for a recital of his compositions or has not devoted an entire program to his works. He has been widely represented by his choral compositions, "The Sunset Trail," "The Morning of the Year," and "The Vision of Sir Launfal," a piano sonata and a trio; the Metropolitan opera success "Shanewis, and other large works, now in preparation.

GLENDALE POST TO SELL PLAY TICKETS

Adjutant McBryde of the Glendale Post of the American Legion has received a letter from the Pasadena Post, asking for cooperation in the sale of tickets for the play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," to be given at the Community Theater by the Community Players.

This play is being presented to raise funds for the expense of delegates to the National convention of the American Legion to be held Oct. 23, in Kansas City. The Ninth Congressional district is entitled to and has chosen three delegates to the convention.

Glendale is a part of the ninth district and will co-operate with Pasadena in the matter of selling tickets. All of the cities in the district will be assessed a certain amount to cover the delegates' expenses and it is the purpose of all the posts to raise as much money from outside sources as possible before the assessment is made.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Havens of Los Angeles were the guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lovell of 505 North Maryland avenue.

LEGION POST ASKED TO HUNT FOR YOUTH

Adjutant James McBryde of Glendale American Legion Post No. 127, has received a letter from Raymond B. Seeley of Wilsonville, Oregon, asking that all members of the Legion assist in the search for his brother, Elmer G. Seeley, who disappeared from his home in Wilsonville, Tuesday, Sept. 20.

The brother is particularly anxious to locate Elmer as his father is seriously ill. According to the communication no reason for the strange disappearance can be given other than that the missing man may be mentally deranged.

When he disappeared Elmer Seeley had very little cash and a government check for $100 which his brother thinks he may attempt to cash. He was wearing a dark grey cap and a dark green silver ring with the initial "E" on it. He also wears an O. A. C. ring at times. A description of the missing man follows: Slender, age 29, but looks younger, is 5 feet 5 inches in height and weighs 130 pounds. He is of light complexion and has grey blue eyes.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of this man or any information regarding him is asked to communicate with the brother, Raymond B. Seeley, Wilsonville, Oregon.

MOYSE RETURNS TO PRAISE CONFERENCE

Principal George U. Moyse has returned from San Diego where he attended the annual county, city and district superintendent's convention at Coronado. This convention brought together people in charge of state education, such as Will C. Wood, state superintendent, E. P. Clarke of Riverside, Mrs. O. Shepherd Barnham, vice-president of the state board, Stanley B. Wilson of Los Angeles, all of whom are members of the state board.

Other school officials present included Margaret S. McNutt, commissioner of elementary schools, A. C. Olney, commissioner of secondary schools, E. R. Snyder, commissioner of vocational education in the state office at Sacramento, and Dr. Herbert R. Stolz, supervisor of physicial education.

There were a number of distinguished visitors present, particularly President Barrows of the state university and John J. Tigert, commissioner of education for the United States.

A great many courtesies were extended to the convention by the people of Coronado and San Diego. The San Diego chamber of commerce arranged a trip to visit the battleships in the harbor and also took them around the bay and to Forst Rosecrans and Point Loma.

The various programs were full of interest and had to do with reports and discussions on the new laws passed by the legislature. A reception was given by the school people Monday evening in the ballroom of the Coronado hotel. At that time Dr. Barrows gave a very cordial reception and spoke to the convention at its opening session on the subject, "A Message from the State University." He spoke particularly of the study of languages, calling attention to the fact that our language is very easily corrupted and he also spoke of the way the American sense of humor has been belittled. Dr. Barrows stated, "the absence of a fine sense of humor is the basis of most of the vulgarity of our time, and our lack of imagination lends to indifference on one hand and sense of mentality on the other." The matter of music and the necessity of keeping it free from deterioration, was brought up. He regretted particularly the introduction of "jazz" bands and the emphasis of the rhythm of the drums in the "jazz" music. The schools of the state were highly complimented upon the work they are doing and Mr. Barrows stated "the welfare and safety of the children should be considered at all times. Physical welfare and health should be emphasized as well as the intellectual side." He closed with a strong plea for patriotism.

Dr. Tigert is making his first trip to the coast. The convention at San Diego was the first meeting of school heads in the west to have the honor of Dr. Tigert's presence. He spoke at length on school conditions in the United States, and told of the difficulty in raising the standards of the schools because of the low salaries paid teachers. He said "the standards cannot be raised without increasing the salaries to hold them to the school work rather than to other lines of business which pay better salaries."

Mr. Wood gave an address on "The Accomplishments and Problems of the California School System" and Superintendent Keppel spoke of the plan which is being followed in Los Angeles county, that of a budget system.

Other papers were read by Superintendent Hunter of Oakland, Dr. Dickson of Oakland, and by Superintendent Cloud of San Mateo. Each paper was followed by a discussion.

"PASSING THRU" AT PALACE GRAND TODAY

"Passing Thru," a delightful new Paramount-Ince comedy starring Douglas MacLean, at the Palace Grand Tuesday and Wednesday tells the story of a young man who continually assumes the responsibilities of others and finds himself in serious trouble as a result.

With many cinema triumphs to his credit Director Sidney Franklin is declared to have done the best work of his career in the production of "Unseen Forces," with an all-star cast. Among the most prominent of Sidney Franklin's past cinema successes are two of Mary Pickford's most popular vehicles, "Heart of the Hills," and "The Hoodlum."

HARDWARE STORE HAS AN ADDITION

Carpenters have been busy at the Glendale Hardware Co. building a balcony to provide an office for the bookkeepers. So big has the business grown that more space was required and it could not be spared on the main floor.

James Webb, the proprietor, says his business has never before rushed as it is rushing now, that is has doubled in volume hince last year at this time and that he is now employing 12 men against seven in 1920. He sees no evidence on any business depression on the way. The activity is due to heavy fall building operations.

AN EXPLANATION

During a recent absence of the writer, a question arose in the minds of some as to the disposal of the $29.10 so generously donated by Glendale people at the tabernacle for the benefit of N. P. Banks Post, on May 29. The writer received the money, paid $10 out of it for the use of the tabernacle and turned the balance over to the post at its next meeting. The post funds, however, were not then down to 16 cents, as was erroneously stated, as they had been replenished by a donation of $10 from the writer.

EIGHT CANDIDATES TAKE ELK DEGREES

Big and enthusiastic was the session of the Glendale Elks' Lodge last night, not less than 350 being present. The prospective vote on amendments to the constitution of the grand lodge was one reason for the large attendance.

Eight candidates were initiated, bringing the enrollment to 1614.

Following the business session a vaudeville entertainment was put on by the Walter Trask Theatrical Exchange and then refreshments were served in the banquet hall.

Secretary Kimball says the enthusiasm displayed is an indication of great progress the coming winter.

Announcements were made of events that will celebrate the institution of the lodge on October 14, 1912, with 27 charter members. As Monday, October 17, is the meeting night which comes nearest to the date mentioned, that has been designated as the anniversary meeting, when there will be "high jinks, boxing, refreshments and everything." It will be for members only.

The anniversary dance will take place Saturday, October 29, and will probably be a formal and brilliant social function, perhaps the only one of its kind during the year.

Preceding these affairs, however, will be the "get acquainted" picnic, to take place on the Works ranch, between Newhall and Saugus on the state highway, Sunday, October 9. It will be for Elks and their families and each family will be expected to bring its own luncheon. There will be a baseball match between Glendale and Fillmore teams, there will be other games, the lodge band will be there to entertain, and no cost to members except that each family will be expected to bring its own luncheon—the soft drinks, candy, cigars, etc., being furnished by the lodge.

School Chorus—The school chorus met yesterday in the high school auditorium under the direction of Mr. Meeker, instructor of music. The young people are starting in to learn the school songs first so they can have one great student chorus whenever they have a game. The first interscholastic football game of the year will be played with Alhambra Friday afternoon on their field.

Squaring It—Pierson Hanning of 235 North Orange street owns up to having purchased a beautiful special model Nash car from Agent Sutton. He does not deny owning a barber shop on North Brand, but he does dissent to having the usually reliable Glendale Daily Press state that he is a member of the firm of Price & Hanning, or any other firm, company or corporation.

Edna Rejoices—Little Edna Palmer dried her tears and smiled when told by her father that he would bring her back to Glendale today. On August 29 she was run over by her father's 8000-pound Kelly truck. She suffered a broken leg and two fractured hipbones. She is progressing nicely.

Ready for Rain—The street department is getting in shape for the coming winter rains. The street crew was out yesterday and today cleaning the intakes of the storm sewers and in other ways preparing for the storm waters that are sure to come.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Luster at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

ROSE LUNCHEON MONTGOMERY HOME

At a very smartly appointed rose luncheon Mrs. H. A. Montgomery yesterday entertained members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, Shakespeare section, of which she is curator. Red rosebuds centered the table and beautified the living rooms, and rosebud nut cups constituted the favors.

Following the luncheon, at a business session of the section, Mrs. Charles H. Hutchinson, president of the club, made a speech of greeting. Mrs. Montgomery outlined plans for the year's work, and Mrs. Henry Ralston, dramatic interpreter for the club, told of plans for putting on scenes from Midsummer Night's Dream the third week in January. Mrs. A. J. Lyon, Shakespearean instructor, gave a fine character sketch of Richard II and expressed the high hopes she entertains of the work to be done by the section the coming year.

Mrs. Charles A. Parker sang "It was a Lover and His Lass," and "Could I," Mrs. Roscoe Puffer playing her accompaniment.

The ladies who enjoyed Mrs. Montgomery's hospitality were Mrs. Chas. H. Hutchinson, Mrs. O. E. MUSIC CLUB HAS BUSINESS SESSION

A business session of officers and members of the Glendale Music Club was held last night at the high school with the president, Mrs. Matitson B. Jones, in the chair.

The discussion of amendments to the constitution having to do with the various classes into which membership is divided, was the chief consideration, and the following amendments were adopted:

"Article III of Membership, section 1—There shall be five classes of membership in this club: Active, affiliate, subscription, honorary and auxiliary.

Section 2—Any citizen is eligible to membership who has received a musical degree or who by private work has reached a similar degree of proficiency or who may be recommended by the board of directors because of some distinguished work or some extraordinary service rendered in musical work.

"Section 3—Active and affiliate members shall be by invitation only through the membership committee.

"Section 4—Any citizen is eligible to affiliate membership who has been or is a music student, teacher or performer, and who is recommended by the membership committee or the board of directors.

"Section 5—Any citizen is eligible to subscription membership who loves music and wh o desires to support the concert series of the club by paying the required entrance fee and dues. Subscription members will not be required to serve on committees and shall not vote or hold office in the club.

"Section 6—Honorary life membership in recognition of distinguished service may be conferred upon not more than two persons within one year, by unanimous vote of those present at any annual meeting.

"Section 7—Auxiliary members shall be admitted through their respective membership committees and under the provisions of auxiliary by-laws which conform to the senior by-laws of the club."

At a meeting of the executive board it was decided to give the year book to every member of the senior club in good standing at the coming concert Friday night and also to give copies of the year book to officers and committee chairmen of the two auxiliary clubs.

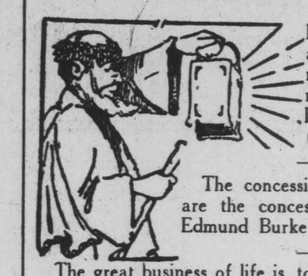
Truths in Epigram



The best of life is just tolerable: 'tis the most we can make of it.—Dean Swift (1617-1745).

The concessions of the weak are the concessions of fear.—Edmund Burke (1729-97).

The great business of life is, to be, to do, to do without, and to depart.—John Morley, M. P. (b. 1838).

THE UNKNOWN DEAD

The body of an unknown soldier brought back from overseas will be buried in beautiful Arlington cemetery at Washington. The occasion will be arked by full military honors, by every ceremonial of pomp deemed fitting.

It will not be alone to the unknown soldier in the flag-draped casket that the stately and impressive event will be a tribute. It will not be from those present only, that the tribute will come.

Though expressed through the tramping hosts of men and women at Arlington, the beloved colors fluttering there, the solemn music, half-muted, the final farewell volley, the tribute will be from loyal Americans everywhere to all the soldier dead. They lie in France, or they have been placed in graves nearer home, but their splendid valor, a glory to the country that bred them and sent them forth to fight for liberty, has not been forgot. It will be remembered while the cause of human freedom is dear to the human heart.

At the noon hour of Friday, November 11, there will be a subdued yet poignant wave of emotion sweeping across the land. For two minutes the hand of toil will be stayed, the clamor of business be stilled. The voices of the multitudes will become silent. Then from many millions will ascend a prayer of thanks that such lives were ready for noble sacrifice, and of supplication that this country be worthy of such devotion.

There will come to mind then with force renewed, the thought that as the dead are praised, and blossoms strewn in their memory, the living soldier is owed a debt of abiding and fervent gratitude.

REGISTRATION OF MINORS

There is a state law requiring the registration of minors. This is for the benefit of the children themselves. Such registration is required in relation to all between the ages of three and eighteen years. The child of three should be of record because soon to be added to the list of pupils. The one under eighteen comes within the compulsory law.

The information sought covers a wide range. It embraces sex, age, residence, nativity, nationality of parents, degree of scholastic training, and occupation, provided the subject is employed. All this information is necessary. It serves as a guide to the educator, making possible constructive education adapted to varied wants and conditions.

If schools know in advance exactly the material with which they are to deal, naturally they may deal with it more effectively. The child's environment, its outlook on life, its character as indicated by its station, are essential equations in the process of instructing it to best advantage.

Parents and guardians will see readily the advantage of such registration. It will indicate in advance the size and type of school demanded. When a boy or girl is engaged in gainful occupation, and forced by circumstances so to continue, the school will be adapted to fit the individual case as to hours and methods of study.

School authorities everywhere desire that registration be complete. They would thus be given a hint as to how to shape their courses, and be made aware of much concerning future development of facilities.

OUTBREAKS AGAINST JAPANESE

A correspondent of the New York Herald sends from Tokio some information concerning the sentiments of the Japanese. He says that excitement is manifest there every time the people of the Pacific coast show their dislike of the Japanese who have come to dwell among them. He mentions "hostile demonstrations" that "break out spasmodically."

The Japanese have every right to their belief that they are as good as the representatives of any other nation. There is no inclination here to deny that. It does not follow that they thus acquire the right to invade the territory of other peoples, and claim the privilege of participation in all the advantages the other peoples may have created and fostered for themselves.

Americans also believe, and occasionally remark, that they are as good as other folk. In instances they go so far as to consider themselves superior. They do not regard this estimate of themselves as in any measure entitling them to enter the territory of a neighbor, benefit by institutions in the support of which they have no part, and crowd the natives from a domain held by right of possession.

The assertion of equality cannot be construed as a roving license to assume ownership in other lands, or even to thrust an unwelcome presence there. The people who have set up a government of the United States and have directed it for about a century and a half, feel that it is their government, that they should be permitted to control it, and that part of this control consists in keeping out such alien elements as could not be assimilated, and the assimilation of which, provided it were possible, would not be desired.

It is not in a spirit of hostility that the people of the Pacific coast object to the free and unlimited admission of Japanese. It does not imply the inferiority of the brown men. It is the concrete declaration that the brown men are different, that they do not belong.

Were swarms of Americans to seek to enter Japan all the power of that nation would be devoted to checking them, and to sending them back whence uninvited they had come. Nobody here could object to such course on the part of Japan, for it would be recognized as just and as inevitable.

Legislation looking to the protection of California against an alien wave has been the result of careful thought. It has not been carried on by persons having in the remotest degree sympathy with any form of violence. The "outbreaks" lie in the imagination of the correspondent. There was a demonstration among some white laborers a few weeks ago. It won no approval, and achieved no result. It happened to be directed against the Japanese, but it could as easily have been against the members of another race, and compared with negro riots and strike riots that have occurred, was an affair of small significance.

MISDIRECTED OBSEQUIES

A man who recently died in this state was duly given (as friends supposed) the proper type of funeral. Developments proved that he had been given no funeral whatever, but had without ostentation been buried in the drear space alloted to the pauper dead. On the other hand, the pauper had been honored with the mournful attention sought to have been bestowed elsewhere. Now the funeral will be repeated, and the two silent sleepers will exchange graves. But the pauper had a funeral, and it may not be taken from him. The dead pauper does not get much; a wooden box, rough and unadorned, a hasty descent into a hole quickly shoveled full by hired men little touched by the thud of falling clods. But perhaps the pauper sleeps just as well.

There is an instinctive impulse to pay respect to the dead, excepting of course the one destined for potters field. For him there are no honors. No gentle hands prepare him for the long rest. No casket, cushioned as for comfort, receives his poor body. For him a nameless grave above which weeds may grow undisturbed. But if there is merit in formal obsequies, the pauper whose remains for the nonce, figured in the center of ceremony, should be solemnly welcome to all the benefits unwittingly bestowed.

The conference will discuss disarmament, pro and con; and all will be well if there isn't too little "pro" and too much "con."

Hard times: An annoying season during which it is necessary to give a job a little attention in order to keep it.

Any list of the light fiction of the day should include Japan's assertion that she seeks no special advantage in China.

About all religion needs to make it popular is a secret initiation and a disguise.

IT IS TO LAUGH

By Dr. Frank Crane.

What is funny—depends.

Perhaps the most marked distinction between races is the difference in what they think is funny.

Here, for instance, is an account I translate litefally from a French magazine. It is to smile. French people rarely laugh. They call full breasted laughter "fou rire" — crazy laughter.

"The inventive mind of the automobilist," says our humorist, "has suggested to him the employ of sonorous instruments to warn of his passage, clear the way before him; trumps, horns, bells, whistles—nothing does any good, nothing! Always the pedestrian stubbornly keeps the axis of the road, the waggoner keeps to the left, the animals respond only by bellowing and lowing—incorrigible, the humanity!

"Something else must be found to interdict the route to all others than autoists. See the railroads, they are at home!

"The cannon? A bit heavy, and the pointings would be difficult with the shakings. A hose? Excellent remedy, before it I see the crowd scamper. The gases? Watch out for the league of nations! Then?

"Then, my friend K. R. has realized the announcer ideal, the only one which empties the way before his ninety H. P., the sole which is heard afar, the sole which scorches not the ear!

"Arrived at an obsticle, he cuts off the gas, stops, gets out, and runs up to the obstacle in question. Hat off, kneeling, it is a lady: "Sir, or Madame, will you have the extreme obligeance to move away; my auto is going to pass." The interpellated one yields, K. B. remounts his machine and passes with the mouthful of thanks.

"If he meets a flock of sheep the formula differs; for the ruminants he should take off his red ribbon and not stick out his tongue; the red has horror of the cattle.

"One must know all the patois of France, also the Basque, the Catalan, the Breton. But what joys for a linguist!

"Going to a fair, or returning from the races, it is often to descend: 'Sir, or Madame, will you kindly . . .' But this exercise procures of the charming relations, at the same time the satisfaction of not having deafened one's neighbor.

"Believe me, chauffeurs my brothers, there is to gain in imitating this excellent K. R."

Thus the Irvin Cobb or Stephen Leacock of the French.

Name of a name! It is of the gaiety!

AT THE LISTENING POST

The old fashioned censor.
I just want to say
A word about her of that old fashioned day.

* * *

When you were twelve, maybe
And I was thirteen.
The old fashioned censor.
You know who I mean.

* * *

We hear in these late days
Of boards of review.
Of those who shall pass
On the things that we do.

* * *

On the things that we do and the things that we see.
And the things that we say and the things we may be.

* * *

On the things we may wear and the things we may eat.
That we all may be moral and useful and sweet.

* * *

And it may be all right and it may be part wrong.
As to just which it is is not part of my song.

* * *

There are those who defend, there are those who condem.
And I am quite willing to listen to them.
To listen to them, as they may be inclined.
And after I've heard them to make up my mind.

* * *

But we had one time, as I started to say,
A censor who censored the old fashioned way.
Sometimes with a shingle or slipper or strap.
And an obstinate boy who was held on her lap.

* * *

Sometimes with a word and sometimes with a tear.
Oft quite unexpectedly she would appear
When we were at mischief, and you perhaps, too.
And those times she sat as a board of review.

* * *

If you think a censor is busy today
You never have censored the old-fashioned way.
You had no six children all bubbling with fun
And mischief from rising to setting of sun.

* * *

She censored the food first.
She got up at dawn.
And saw we had breakfast
Ere school time came on.

* * *

She censored our schoolbooks.
She censored our hair.
Of good soap and water
We had a full share.
Through tangled and thick locks she censored a way
With combs and with brushes that old fashioned day.

* * *

She censored our slates and our straps and our books.
Our manners at table, our ways and our looks.
And then with a kiss quite uncensored and warm
She sent us all forth in the shine or the storm.
And censored the dishes and got out the broom
And censored the carpets and cleaned every room.

* * *

And if we got censored at school, as we did,
With rule or with strap—such a thing as we hid,
She found out about it somehow and right then
She got out her shingle and censored again.

* * *

She knew what we read.
And the books that we hid
She found where we hid them
And burned them, she did.
And talked to us kindly
Of what boys should be.
Oh never a censor
Was useful as she.

* * *

She was a real censor.
She had no fast rule.
But she knew pretty much
Where we were after school.
The boys that we played with
She knew pretty well.
How ever she learned all she knew I can't tell.

* * *

And if we played hookey
And idled with play
The hours for our lessons
She knew it some way.
And one way or other
Impressed on us then
A lesson that kept us
From hookey again.

* * *

Yes, she was a censor
A board of review,
With an eye that was sharp
And a soul that was true.
A hand that was willing.
A counsel so wise
And always that look of love
Deep in her eyes.

* * *

And when day was over,
The lessons all said,
Boys kissed and made ready
And then tucked in bed,
She sought the night's rest
She so nobly had earned,
And as censor and board of review she adjourned!

SONGS OF THE POETS

Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep.—By Emma Hart Willard (1787-1870).

Rocked in the cradle of the deep
I lay me down in peace to sleep;
Secure I rest upon the wave,
For Thou, O Lord! hast power to save.
I know Thou wilt not slight my call,
For Thou dost mark the sparrow's fall;
And calm and peaceful shall I sleep
Rocked in the cradle of the deep.

When in the dead of night I lie
And gaze upon the trackless sky,
The star-bespangled heavenly scroll,
The boundless waters as they roll,—
I feel Thy wondrous power to save
From perils of the story wave;
Rocked in the cradle of the deep
I calmly rest and soundly sleep.

And such the trust that still were mine,
Though stormy winds swept o'er the brine,
Or through the tempest's fiery breath
Roused me from sleep to wreck and death.
In ocean cave, still safe with Thee
The germ of immortality!
And calm and peaceful shall I sleep
Rocked in the cradle of the deep.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

Doctors say Babe Ruth is in a run down condition. Probably due to lack of air and exercise.

Perhaps the winning of the pennant by the New York Giants will make McGraw so good natured that he won't beat up anybody for a long time.

In a friendly game at Fresno one player was shot because of a difference over ten cents. It's a poor wreck of a mortal who isn't worth more than a dime.

The San Francisco policeman who shot an auto thief seems not to agree with the judicial tendency to give such offenders the benefit of probation.

Japan's disarmament plans seems to be for nobody to disarm.

Disputants over the matter of picture censorship display a desire to censor each other, and are welcome to go as far as they like.

Among the assaults made by the ku klux those against the Latin and English languages are bad, but the least offensive.

Southern California welcomes tourists. Even when they arrive in box cars a delegation of police meets them.

Apparently the thought never has struck reformers that the making of hash ought to be censored.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

HATRED FOR WAR

[Philadelphia Public Ledger]

The growing hatred of war, of its horrors, its inherent brutalities and beastiality, is not the only force demanding disarmament. It is being powerfully aided by the revolt of the taxpayer, who resents the growing burden that drags on and on through the years.

These are the opinions that are reaching the President through the White House mail and that were dinned into the ears of congressmen "back home." Washington is being told again how the country feels and what it hopes.

ELECTION AND INAUGURATION

[Chicago Journal of Commerce]

An English election means that those chosen by the people are to take office at once, and those defeated are given no more time in which to oppose the will of the majority. The American Bar association has advocated by resolution that such a system be adopted here, and a bill having that end in view has been introduced by Senator Ashurst. But there is doubt as to whether the matter will go beyond these formalities. It is hard to break down a century and a half of tradition even here in up-to-the-minute America.

* * *

FOOLISH FETISH

[Springfield Republican]

The straw hat fetish, indeed, is one which ought not to be worshiped too blindly; it is essentially much on a level with the top-hat fetish at which Americans mock and from which even London is emancipating itself. Straw is less expensive material for a fetish but a free people ought not to bow down abjectly before either of them. If we are so lucky as to have a September that a straw hat fits, why swelter in felt?

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

This column has dismissed the Arbuckle case, as such. There are phases growing out of it almost as portentous as the tragic orgy. These have to do with intelligence as well as with morals. They bring into view glimpses of human nature most disconcerting. They throw a shadow across the fair name of womanhood. Regardless of the culpability of Arbuckle, there certainly was nothing about the orgy in which he was principal that was creditable to anybody concerned. A charge of murder has been dismissed. This does not change the fact that a young woman, not without fault, not portrayed as innocent, received on that occasion injuries from which she died. She was subjected to treatment so lewd and brutal that witnesses faltered and failed in the effort to describe it. Soon after that, the host of the occasion, granted freedom, was smiled upon by other women, congratulated, pawed over, presented with flowers, kissed. Could any spectacle well have been more disheartening, disgusting and strange?

* * *

Let it be remembered, at least briefly, that a woman was killed in circumstances that blackened her name. She had not sought death. She had done nothing deserving of death. She had gone as a guest, rashly, it may be admitted; foolishly there is no doubt. Why should others of her sex be so ready to forget, to forgive? Why should they smile at the escape of the man implicated? Do they approve of the killing of women? Would they choose to be caught in a web of circumstance to perish as this poor girl perished, her shame and her suffering the gossip of the rabble?

* * *

Europe is said to be experiencing a juvenile crime wave. It is ascribed to hunger. If the way to the heart is through the stomach, as often averred, the same avenue seems to lead to the seat of the morals. There would be no desire to hold an habitually hungry youngster responsible for protesting, and stealing might be the only form of protest such a child could formulate.

* * *

Lloyd George, and representatives of Sinn Fein ambition, are to have another conference October 11. After that perhaps Ireland will know peace, and the world would be glad to see it enjoy peace during the brief interval.

* * *

There will be only four delegates representing the United States at the disarmament conference. The four, however, have high repute for patriotism and perspicacity. It is probable that they will speak for the people as effectively as though the group had been much enlarged. Indeed, there may be an advantage in having no more.

* * *

The president of the mine workers in Kansas has gone to jail to serve six months. He does not bow to the will of the court, but enters stiff-necked upon service of his term. Members of the union threaten to cease work during the period of his confinement, a course that would be regretted. Kansas has a court for the adjustment of industrial disputes. The president of the union defied this tribunal. He is taking the consequences. It is not easy to figure that he has anybody but himself to blame.

* * *

If half of Chicago's police is engaged in bootlegging, of course the effectiveness of the force has been impaired. This deplorable phase of the situation seems to be beyond immediate remedy. However, there ought to be enough sober and upright police in the non-bootlegging half to place a check on the crimes committed by the Black Hand in that city. It is customary for this organization to send a note demanding money. The penalty of failure to comply is blowing up by bomb. Often compliance is impossible, the stipulated sum not being accessible to the prospective victim. Then follows the explosion. This seems to be the close of the incident.

FLY IN OINTMENT OF LOCAL POSTOFFICE SITUATION

Letter Travels 200 Miles in 19 Days Is Latest Report Made of "Service"

There is no such thing as the "Glendale postoffice." That sounds funny, but it is true. Years ago Glendale had a postoffice. It was located on Glendale avenue between Broadway and Wilson. It was not a large affair, but it was a Glendale postoffice.

Of course Glendale residents are afforded mail service, such as it is, but that service comes from a Los Angelese postoffice, a branch of the main Los Angeles postoffice. Postal authorities do not know that Glendale is on the map so far as Glendale itself is concerned. All mail matter addressed to Glendale people is sent to Los Angeles, and after being mailed over there for a period of from five hours to three weeks, is sent out to the Glendale sub-station or branch of the Los Angeles office.

Isn't this a sweet way to treat at least 20,000 educated, intelligent people?

There's a fly in the ointment somewhere. Glendale people by the hundreds have written Congressman Lineberger at Washington. Letters have gone out from the Glendale Chamber of Commerce by the dozen, and not so very long ago 2400 names were secured on a petition by this oraginzation. This petition asked, prayed, pleaded for an independent postoffice for Glendale and that petition was sent direct to Congressman Lineberger. Where it went to no one knows. After performing a few antics including the spread-eagle and the Queen's cross it probably landed in the waste basket, there to rest until the janitor used it to heat up the solemn, high-brow halls where the "public servants" in the form of congressmen from the different parts of the land congregate. And it took a month or more of hard work to secure those 2400 names. Nothing like having an active representative in Washington.

Not so very long ago a letter shower was given to OUR Congressman in Washington. These letters were sent by many of the leading business men of Glendale. They asked Congressman Lineberger to do everything in his power to secure for Glendale a postoffice — our intelligent, hard-working business men had grown tired of being ofice boy for Los Angeles. These letters, no doubt, were received for a special delivery or registered letter generally reaches the place to which it is sent. And they probably were read, too—at least home of them. If Congressman Lineberger is doing all he can for Glendale in Washington, it looks as though he has about as much "power" or "weight" in the brainy circles at Washington as the corner newsboy who yells "Daily Press Here" would have in the inner circle of the league of nations.

Listen to this "earful." This is what you call service.

A letter was sent from Lost Hills, California, a distance of, say 200 miles, to a resident in Glendale. For illustration the party to whom the letter was addressed may be called Jones. Just previous to the mailing of the letter another party by the name of Jones had moved from Glendale to Erie, Pa. When this letter that was sent from Lost Hills reached Glendale instead of being delivered to the Jones in Glendale it was, on account of an error due to mismanagement, sent to Jones in Erie, Pa. The Jones in Erie saw at once that the letter was not intended for him, so he sent it back to Glendale. After a lengthy consultation in the Glendale office, in which the office cat took a prominent part, it was decided that possibly the letter really was intended for the Jones in Glendale. That's what the unbiased man would call speed—200 miles in 19 days.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

ON A GOLDEN WEDDING

Maiden, sweetheart, bride and wife,
Loving, loyal, tender, true,
How this golden crown of life,
Happiness, becometh you!
You whose queenliness not less
Regal for its tenderness.

Comrade, helpmate, chum and friend,
How the spirits of you blend
In the woman you have been
Are and will be! How you win
Friendships that are stout and true
With that friendly smile of you.

Who is queen of womanhood?
Not the blushing maiden fair,
Not the bride that day who stood
By the flowered altar there!—
Nay—the wife where, good or ill,
Love's own smile endureth still.

Blessed two! How now my song
Breaks—I've loved you both so long,
There's a quivering, quavering note,
And a big lump in my throat.
And this tear must be, I guess,
A big splash of happiness.

LACK OF SEWERS IS GREAT DRAWBACK

Councilman Clarence Kimlin declares that the big problem before the city government and the thing that in his opinion should be pushed ahead of any other proposition, is a sewer system. Speaking of this he said:

"It is a thing to which I believe we cannot give too much attention for I understand industries have been driven away from our city because of the lack of sewers. I feel strongly on the subject and as chairman of Public Welfare and Sanitation are under obligations to urge it.

"It is a great problem not because of the building of trunk lines and laterals—that is comparatively simple,—the big thing is the disposal plant. I shall urge the council to concentrate on that one thing and bring it to a head as early as possible. We must do something before long.

"Glendale is going ahead so rapidly it keeps everything humming. Mr. Reeves, our city manager, has told us the city council must keep out of the way and not retard the progress of Glendale and we are trying to do it by having frequent council meetings and disposing of business as rapidly as possible. Enough matters are constantly coming up for action to provide work for meetings every evening in the week and we are now trying out the plan of beginning our sessions at 5:30 so we can get home by 9 o'clock instead of midnight.

BUNGALOW COURT WITH NINE UNITS

What promises to be one of the most elaborate bungalow courts in Glendale is the one now being constructed at 112 to 120 East Lomita avenue for Arthur Glade and Lee Etting, who arrived in Glendale but a short time ago from Grand Island, Neb. The court will consist of nine units and will cost about $19,000.

Each of the homes in this court will be complete in itself. There will be four rooms in each dwelling, these to consist of living room, dining room, bedroom, kitchen, breakfast nook, bath, and screen porch. Each dwelling will be equipped with everything in the way of built-in features, including the bed, buffet, and other features.

J. J. Burke of 1242 South Maryland avenue, is the builder in charge of this work. Mr. Burke states that this court will be finished and ready for occupancy by November 1.

Both Mr. Glade and Mr. Etting are residents of Glendale. Immediately upon arriving here Mr. Glade purchased the home located at 217 West Lomita aveue, where he and his family are now residing. Mr. Etting is stopping temporarily with Mr. Glade and family.

Miss Eleanor Sargent, who is teaching at Alta Loma, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sargent, 448 West California avenue.

DANCING SCHOOL IN GLENDALE SATURDAY

The World Today

The First National Bank of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank announce that the business conducted heretofore by their Bond Departments has been taken over by the First Securities Company—a company owned by the stockholders of the First National Bank of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank.

The investment business of both institutions will continue to be operated, as before, by the First Securities Company in the main banking rooms of the First National Bank of Los Angeles and of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank and in the branches of the latter organization.

This separation of the activities relating to the bond business is one of corporate organization only. It has been effected because the growth of the institutions' business in securities has made necessary a type of organization which is free to render the fullest scope of service to its customers.

The policy of the Bond Department of the First Securities Company will be identical with that of its predecessors.

The management and personnel will remain unchanged, although augmented by the organization of Baer-Brown-Parsons Company, investment bankers of Los Angeles and Pasadena—the Baer-Brown-Parsons Company having been absorbed by the First Securities Company.
